

Danubiana Carpathica

Jahrbuch für Geschichte und Kultur in den deutschen Siedlungsgebieten Südosteuropas

herausgegeben von

Mathias Beer, Reinhard Johler, Florian Kühner-Wielach, Jana Osterkamp

Band 14 (61)

2024

DE GRUYTER OLDENBOURG

Herausgegeben im Auftrag

der Kommission für Geschichte und Kultur der Deutschen in Südosteuropa, des Bukowina-Instituts an der Universität Augsburg, des Instituts für deutsche Kultur und Geschichte Südosteuropas an der LMU München, des Instituts für donauschwäbische Geschichte und Landeskunde, Tübingen, und des Zentrums zur Erforschung deutscher Geschichte und Kultur in Südosteuropa an der Universität Tübingen.

Redaktion

Angela Ilić, Sabine Jesner, Michael Kabelka, Olivia Spiridon

ISSN 1863-9887

ISBN 978-3-11-136841-2

Die im Jahrbuch abgedruckten Beiträge und Abbildungen sind urheberrechtlich geschützt. Die namentlich gezeichneten Beiträge geben die Meinung der Autoren wieder.

Anfragen und Beiträge sind zu richten an die Kommission für Geschichte und Kultur der Deutschen in Südosteuropa, c/o Alter Postweg 97a, D-86150 Augsburg, kgkds@bukowina-institut.de Das Jahrbuch ist über De Gruyter Oldenbourg zu beziehen.

Druck: AZ Druck und Datentechnik GmbH, Kempten

Satz: Ralf Thomas Göllner

© 2024 Kommission für Geschichte und Kultur der Deutschen
in Südosteuropa, Tübingen

Veröffentlicht durch den Verlag De Gruyter Oldenbourg Berlin/Boston

The City in Transition.
Transformation Processes in Southeastern Europe
since the 1980s

edited by

Daniela Simon

Danubiana Carpathica Band 14 (61), 2024

DE GRUYTER OLDENBOURG

Contents

The City in Transition. Transformation Processes in Southeastern Europe since the 1980s

Acknowledgments	7
Daniela Simon: Transformation in Southeastern Europe Through the Lens of Its Cities since the 1980s: An Introduction	9
Liliana Iuga: The "Good", the "Bad" and the "Uncertain" Heritage: Navigating Urban Regeneration Dynamics in Iași, Romania	35
Mihai S. Rusu: Celebrating the Past, Troubling the Present: Samuel von Brukenthal's Contested Statue in Sibiu, Romania	57
Danica Trifunjagić: Socio-Cultural Development of the City of Novi Sad Through the Prism of Végel's Novel Neoplanta ili Obećana Zemlja	85
Lorena Popović: Transformation po istrijanski — The Re-Ordering of Pula	103
Máté Tamáska: Waterfront Komárno. Topography of a Small Town's National Port	125
Márton Czirfusz: The Budapest Urban Agglomeration in the New International Division of Labor after 1989	147
Dino Šakanović: Work, Workers, and Life in a Transitional City: Tuzla, from 1988 to 2008	173

Contents

Andrei Răzvan Voinea: Prefab Socialism in Bucharest: A History of the Floreasca District	199
Dragan Damjanović and Željka Miklošević: Zagreb's Architectural and Urban Development— From Tito's Death to the 2020 Earthquakes	231
Dávid Kovács: The Modern Heritage of Downtown Veszprém: The Development of the Modern City Center of Veszprém, from 1980 to the Present	263
Contributors	283

Acknowledgments

This issue of Danubiana Carpathica features papers presented at the annual conference of the Institute of Danube Swabian History and Regional Studies, titled "The City in Transition: Transformation Processes in Southeastern Europe since the 1980s." The conference was held at the University of Tübingen 6–8 October 2022. Although not all contributors to the conference are included in this volume, their efforts are greatly appreciated.

Special thanks to Ger Duizings for his inspiring keynote, "If Cars Could Walk: Postsocialist Streets between Circulation and Conviviality." Additional gratitude goes to speakers Cristian Smigiel from Salzburg, Nikolina Bobić from Plymouth, Daniel Habit from Munich, Maja Babić from Groningen, Milan Popadić from Belgrade, Gruia Badescu from Konstanz, and Jan Schrastetter from Munich. Thanks are also due to the chairs from Tübingen: Reinhard Johler, Alexa von Winning, Olivia Spiridon, Cristian Cercel, Bianca Hepp, and Luka Babić.

Moreover, sincere appreciation is extended to the publisher, proofreaders, reviewers and commentators of Danubiana Carpathica. A special mention goes to the IdGL team for their support in preparing and organizing the conference, particularly Heike Bauer, Renate Orendi, and Leander Vieten.

Finally, I extend my heartfelt thanks to all contributors to this volume. Their years of dedicated research will undoubtedly inspire further studies on the cities of Southeastern Europe.

Tübingen, May 6, 2024